LOCAL PASTORS PAY GLOWING TRIBUTE TO LATE PRES. COOLIDGE

Twenty-four hours after a young minister had conducted simple, yet impressive, funeral services for the 30th President of the United States, Calvin Coolidge, in the Northampton church, pastors in the churches of Arlington paid glowing tribute to Massachusetts' Greatest Son, yesterday morning.

In practically every church of Arlington, mention was made of the sudden passing of Calvin Coolidge, beloved of the entire Nation. Speaking on the subject, "Calvin Coolidge, the Man, the Citizen, the Statesman", Rev. William D. Shaw, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, said in part:

"The sudden passing of Calvin Coolidge, former president of the United States came as a shock to the entire civilized world. President during a period of expansion and inflation, he had so visualized and personalized these fundamental virtues of the American people, that even where they were not practiced they were honored, so that even where Calvin Coolidge found few imitators he had many admirers."

"Then he had again demonstrated, in an age sadly needing such demonstration, simplicity, honesty, fearlessness, directness, loyalty, cannot only win but also hold the esteem of men, and secure their suffrage. The pathway is still open from a two family home to the White House, from the Common Council of a small city to the Presidency of the United States, and that without the compromise of principle or questionable methods. No more heartening fact in America life has been presented since Abraham Lincoln was elected and inaugurated President."

"He was the friend of the common man if there be any such, because he was one of them. Friends everywhere recognized his sterling worth. His political enemies also paid homage to his integrity and directness."

"The simplicity of his life was dramatic, perhaps simplicity is always more dramatic than we think. So death found him, busy about his day's work, but with his work so arranged that he could leave it. He is reported to have said a short while ago that his work was done. None of our public men have worked more diligently, more directly, more conscientiously for the accomplishment of the tasks of public life than did Calvin Coolidge, and having laid down the work which it appeared to him that his part of it was finished, he could say with conviction, 'My work is done.' Well it is now finished. Future historians will be able to place him in his proper place so far as the stream of American Public life is concerned."

"We today give him that place in our hearts and voice the sentiments of all when we declare that the people loved Calvin Coolidge for what he was, for what he represented, for what he had demonstrated. We mourn his passing because there has been removed from public life one whose counsel and experience would have been invaluable in the solution of the problems that are now before not only America but the world."

"Our confidence is in the Lord God Almighty who raises up such leaders as Coolidge in the hour of need, and who we believe will also now raise up that leadership which will enable us to reconstruct society and civilization that we may rise to new heights of wisdom and organization whereby the world citizen shall secure a larger degree of justice and consideration than ever before, and when that day shall come it will be found that one of the factors in its coming was, 'Calvin Coolidge, The Man, The Citizen and The Statesman.'"

The Alumni and High school played last Monday. S'funny but you know we were looking over the roster and we find a "Troy" listed on High school team. Now we ask you did you see any "Troy" on the High school team Saturday.

The whole story on the Arlington Hockey team will depend on Charlie Downes, the coach. He can, by playing his lines right, give the other teams a battle that will be remembered.

What do you think of that victory the basketball team scored over Tufts Freshman, Wednesday afternoon. Rather thrilling to say the least, winning a ball game with only five seconds to play.

The High School was leading with only twelve seconds to play and a Tufts man looped a basket. There was five seconds to go and Arlington had the ball offside. It was tossed to Wright and he made the goal to win the game. Chalk up the victory to Wright.

Also don't forget that Wright was the high scorer for Arlington with nine points which shows that his shot was no fluke but that he can sink them. Rafe Seretto, last year's captain was second with seven points.

NEW BOOK AT LIBRARY POINTS OUT CAUSE OF ECONOMIC DEPRESSION

Two books, which are timely because of the present depression, were placed in circulation at the Robbins public library today.

They are, W. C. Graham's "How to Get a Job During a Depression" and G. D. H. Cole's "A Guide Through World Chaos", which is a frank discussion by an Englishman of the causes of the world economic depression.

The first-mentioned book contains helpful suggestions offered by the consulting director of personnel of Hartford House, Y. M. C. A., New York City. These works should prove helpful at this particular time since so much has been written on the topics covered by the authors in both cases. In addition to these two non-fiction additions, the Robbins library today places in circulation the following new books:

Beach, J. W. The Twentieth century novel; studies in technique. The evolution of the novel on the Continent, in England, and the United States since 1900.

Brady, Nella, ed. Standard book of British and American verse, preface by Christopher Morley.

Davies, Blodwen. Romanie Quebec, illustrated by Barbara Stephens. The quaint charm of Quebec and the surrounding country within sight of the ancient fortress.

Atty. Launie Pays Tribute To Coolidge

Atty. Joseph J. Launie of 222 Lawrence road, Medford, who gives weekly talks over station WBSO, Babson park, Saturday afternoons at 1.45, paid a glowing tribute to the late former president, Calvin Coolidge, in his broadcast last Saturday. He spoke as follows:

"The outstanding news of the week was the sudden death of Calvin Coolidge. This was a great shock to the entire nation. Mere words can never appraise the greatness of this man."

"If there ever was a man of destiny in American politics, it was Calvin Coolidge. He always seemed to be the man of the hour. Although up to the time of his election to the Mass. State Senate there was nothing unusual about his political career. It was a slow, steady progress step by step, from member of the Common Council, Member of the Republican City Committee, Chairman of his Ward and City Committee, Member of the School Committee, City Solicitor, Mayor, Clerk of courts, and Member of the House of Representatives."

"Then an unusual thing happened in Mass. Republican politics in 1913. President of the Senate Levi H. Greenwood, of Gardner, who had been against the Women Suffrage Movement was unexpectedly defeated by the Change In Lineup Proves Disastrous For Arlington High School Hockey Team — Sullivan Disappoints Fans Who Flocked To Garden — Collins Is Outstanding Local Player — Ford of Belmont Gives Crowd Several Thrills As Belmont Trounces Melrose

A revamped Arlington High sextet went down to defeat at the Boston Garden last Saturday when a fast passing and fast-skating Cambridge Latin team beat them 4 to 2.

The Arlington lines had been built over almost entirely by Charlie Downes and the line which had done the most scoring last week was split up entirely by the absence of the mid-jet Jobie Lax who is out for the remainder of the season.

Sullivan who starred last week, was stopped completely, and failed to even get past the first forward line of the Cambridge team. Collins was the big star of Saturday's game. He was in on every play, checked hard and was a continual threat. He scored one of the Arlington goals.

Greco and Collins were on the wings of the starting line with Sullivan at center. This line failed to even hold its own but there was no score and a new line came in after three minutes. Norberg and Bott were the wings with Gardella at center. After two minutes of play Gardella was given a two-minute rest for tripping, and Desrosiers for "Latin" followed him with a board check. After they had both returned to the ice, Sullivan and Greco came on at the wings and Sullivan was given a trip to the cooler for hooking. Desrosiers scored while Sullivan was off the ice in eight minutes and twenty-five seconds. He had taken the puck through the Arlington forward line and had failed to get the defense so he let a back hand fly which went past Sakolian whose vision was blocked by the men in front of the net. Bott and Norberg came on at the wing and the period ended a minute later with Cambridge leading, 1 to 0.

Second Period

The first line of Greco, Sullivan and Collins started the second period. Cambridge swarmed all over the Arlington net for the first few minutes and Sakolian saved many times with hard stops. Collins broke loose after this barrage and he had only the goalie and himself between a score. He failed to close in on the goalie and his weak shot was blocked easily. Norberg, Gardella and Bott came on at four minutes and Alt scored for Latin at seven minutes and fifty-five seconds with a pass from Rooney. The reason for this goal was the failure on the part of Arlington men to cover at the net as they left two men wide open. Billie Bullock broke loose near the close of the period and split the defense beautifully to let a hard shot go which was just too wide and it hit the post. Collins came along, gathered in the rebound and nearly drove it through the net for the first Arlington goal, in ten minutes and thirty-two seconds. Rooney kept Latin ahead by two goals when he retaliated just one minute later on a rebound from Desrosiers' shot at the goal. The period ended twenty-eight seconds later.

Third Period

Norberg, Gardella and Mee started the third period. This line went to pieces altogether and Bul-

POLICE WATCHING FOR FIREBUG AFTER SECOND BLAZE AT WYMAN'S

Following a second fire within a week on the property of Wyman Bros., a police guard has been stationed at the Lake street property, at the request of Arthur P. Wyman, a member of the board of selectmen and part owner of the property.

A week ago last Friday, fire swept through the large Wyman barn on Lake street and caused the death of two horses as well as heavy property damage. The second fire was discovered last Sunday afternoon at 5.18 o'clock. A telephone call from Mrs. Wyman brought several pieces of fire apparatus to the Lake street property. An alarm was sounded from box 285 and Engine 4, Ladder 1, Engine 3 and a Belmont piece of apparatus responded. A fire had started in the center of the barn in which six horses which had been saved from the first fire are now housed.

A police detail was immediately set up because of the firm conviction that the second fire was the work of a firebug. Selectman Wyman declared last night that there is no doubt whatever but what Saturday's fire had been deliberately set and said that the police guard had been requested in order to apprehend the party responsible for the menace should he return to the barn.

The fire Saturday afternoon was discovered only a minute after one of the helpers had left the barn and it had started in the very middle of the building. It was extinguished without causing much damage.

Atty. Laurie Pays Tribute To Coolidge

untiring efforts of the leading suffragists headed by Margaret Foley of Boston. They had organized a flying squadron and covered Senator Greenwood's district so thoroughly and effectively that the almost impossible in politics had happened and the President of the Senate, Candidate for re-election was defeated. Hearing of Greenwood's defeat on election night, Calvin Coolidge took the earliest train for Boston and by noon of the next day had lined up enough party leaders to insure him of the Presidency of the Senate without opposition in spite of the fact that he had been a Member of the Senate for but two years. Upon taking over this office, he astonished the membership by making the shortest acceptance speech ever made to that body. It consisted of forty-four words. As follows: "Honorable Senators, my sincerest thanks I offer you. Conserve the firm foundations of our Institutions. Do your work in the spirit of a Soldier in the Public Service. Be loyal to the Commonwealth and to yourselves. And be brief; Above all things be brief." This speech caused a sensation in political circles. No other public utterance could better outline his political creed and illustrate his tendency toward brevity of speech. He became the man of the hour. This speech gave him his first statewide fame. Upon his re-election as President of the Senate in 1915 he pointed the way to political honesty in the following words: "Do the Day's work, if it be to protect the rights of the weak, whoever objects, do it, if it be to help a powerful corporation better to serve the people, whatever the opposition do that. Expect to be called a standpat, but don't be a standpat. Expect to be called a demagogue, but don't be a demagogue. Don't hesitate to be as revolutionary as science. Don't hesitate to be as reactionary as the multiplication table."

"Then another unusual thing happened in Republican politics. In 1914 David L. Walsh, Democrat, had been re-elected Gov. and Grafton D. Cushing, Republican, Lt. Gov. In 1915 Lt. Gov. Grafton D. Cushing, who had been Hon. Samuel W. McCall's running mate in 1914 thought he was the Republican Moses, owing to the big vote he received. He having received 20,000 more votes than McCall.

"Cushing talk among the politicians was growing. There was much propaganda that McCall if nominated for Governor could not win. McCall's fighting blood was up. The year before he wouldn't fight for the nomination. This year he would not only fight, but he would fight to the last ditch. "Ordinarily, McCall would have received the second nomination as a matter of course, but times had changed. Party custom no longer commanded respect in certain quarters. With an aggressive in the field, McCall saw that he would have to busy himself. Late in January, 1915 he issued a statement to the Republicans, stating that personally he didn't want to precipitate a party fight so soon after the election, of last November but because of the activities of the other aspirant for the nomination, he felt obliged to do so.

"Two days later, Cushing came out in a statement, pointing to his own flattering vote for Lt. Governor, and declared that he felt that a younger and more active man was necessary to make a successful fight for the party and that he intended to test his strength with McCall in the primaries. The Cushing candidacy stirred Republicans all over the state and the legislature was divided into two factions over the question.

"Hon. Charles S. Baxter, Ex-Mayor of Medford had a reputation as a campaign manager. He had acted in that capacity for Louis A. Frothingham in the latter's candidacies for Lt. Gov. and Gov. McCall selected Baxter and installed him in charge of the McCall boom. Baxter began to lay the wires for the nomination. He had a good working knowledge of the state and soon the situation began to shape up. For weeks both sides jockeyed for place. It was not until after the legislature adjourned that the work of many long tedious weeks began to show results. This contest created an opening for Lt. Governor. The Republican succession had been from the speaker'ship to Lt. Gov. and then Governor.

"No President of the Senate had been able to ascend higher on the political ladder. But that did not daunt Calvin Coolidge. "Shortly after the Legislature adjourned, Calvin Coolidge President of the Mass. State Senate announced his candidacy for Lt. Gov. by handing his friend Frank W. Stearns a piece of paper on which was written the following: "I am a candidate for Lt. Gov." Cal. Coolidge, Governor's Councillor Guy A. Ham of Boston was also a candidate. Coolidge carried every county except Norfolk and Suffolk, and those two were very close. The Coolidge plurality was 24,191 votes.

"He was re-elected Lt. Gov. twice and in Nov. 1918 was elected Gov. During his first term he was to be confronted with the great issue—involved in the Boston Police strike. This crisis did not make him. It revealed him.

"Governor Coolidge called out the entire State Guard to preserve order; He denounced the strikers in the strongest terms, and this drew a protest from Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor. Coolidge replied that...

"There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time. You can depend upon me to support you in every legal action and sound policy. The right of destiny, may he rest in peace."

Sympathy of World is Theirs

Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, assisted by her son John, is shown arriving at the Edwards Congregational Church at Northampton, Mass., for funeral services for former President Coolidge.

the police in Boston to affiliate in a labor organization has always been questioned, never granted and is now prohibited. This challenge was heard around the world.

"Gov. Coolidge crushed the insurgency with effectiveness. President of the U. S. Woodrow Wilson, a great Democrat, wrote a letter of commendation to the Republican Governor.

"Again he became the man of the hour. "In 1920, at the Republican Convention, after a few ballots had been taken which had resulted in a deadlock, an all night conference by the Senatorial Leaders had resulted in a deal whereby Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio was to be nominated for President and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin nominated for Vice-President.

"These leaders were able to put over the Harding nomination on the tenth ballot, then the nominations for Vice-President were made. Senator McCormack of Illinois, stepped forward and nominated Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin. Then from the Oregon Delegation a thin, spare man mounted a chair and was recognized by the Presiding Officer. "McCamaunt of Oregon" he shouted. The Presiding officer had assumed that the purpose of the gentleman was to second the nomination of Senator Lenroot. But McCamaunt did not care for Lenroot and in a voice heard in every part of the hall, placed in nomination "Calvin Coolidge of Mass.", in a typical breezy western speech and it took. Thus, an obscure delegate started a stampede for Calvin Coolidge for Vice President. There was but one ballot. The leaders' plan to nominate Senator Lenroot had failed. Destiny had decreed otherwise. Some years later President Calvin Coolidge did not forget Wallace McCamaunt of Oregon. The man who nominated him for Vice-President was appointed to the U. S. Circuit CT.

"On Aug. 2, 1923, while Calvin Coolidge was spending his vacation at the farmhouse of his father, John C. Coolidge, in Plymouth, Vt., President Harding unexpectedly died, and at 2 A. M. Aug. 3, 1923 a little drama, unique in the history of the U. S., was enacted in the small parlor of the Coolidge farmhouse. The Presidential oath of office was administered to Calvin Coolidge by his father, a Justice of the Peace of his township. Never before had such a minor judicial officer officiated on an occasion so momentous.

"And again Calvin Coolidge became the man of the hour, his administration as President is recent history. His famous statement "I do not choose to run for President in 1928," issued from Black Hills, South Dakota is unique in American politics.

"After he retired from the Presidency he returned to his old home in Northampton in accordance with his philosophy that, "we draw our Presidents from the people. It is a wholesome thing for them to return to the people; I came from them, I wish to be one of them."

"In words of Masses: "Of such as he was, there be but few on earth; Of such as he is, there are but few in Heaven; And life is all the sweeter that he lived, And all he loved, more sacred for his sake."

"However only recently, Calvin Coolidge felt that his work was done.

"Just one week ago, Dec. 31, he wrote a letter from Northampton to one of his closest friends Edward T. Clark, his secretary for eight years, including his stay in the White House, saying: "No one can tell these days what a short time of three or four years may bring forth, but of course, I know my work is done."

"I shall close this talk with the words of Edward Everett, "A great character, founded on the living rock of principle, is in fact, not a solitary phenomenon, to be at once perceived, limited, and described. It is a dispensation of Providence, designed to have not merely an immediate, but a continuous, progressive, any never-ending agency. It survives the man who possesses it; survives his age, perhaps his country, his language."

"Calvin Coolidge, the man of destiny, may he rest in peace."

CHIPMAN'S TREE GIVES HOCKEY WIN OVER RINDGE TECH

Rindge's Net Minder Saves Cambridge Sextet From A Rout—Chippie Leads the Medford Cause With Brilliant Dashes—Two Goals Come In Second Period With Last Counter Late In Final Stanza—Team Looks Much Better Than In First Game

Capt. Bob Chipman of the Medford High hockey six made it publicly known he is a formidable candidate for individual scouting honors in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League by his outstanding feat of scoring the three of the Blue and White goals that defeated Rindge Tech High of Cambridge, 3-0, in one of the four weekly school hockey games of the Boston Garden Saturday.

"Chip Shot" Chippie, which label has been given the Medford leader by the brethren of the press, was the big fire in the local team's romp.

Roscoe Stops Shots
Only Capt. Marty Roscoe's brilliant net guardianship saved the Rindge outfit from a more pronounced pasting. The Medford offense Eddie Riley, Muench, Chipman, Jackson, Buck Wilkins and Buster McLeod leading the attack, flooded the Rindge goal with terrific shots. Roscoe yielded, however, after about four minutes had elapsed in the second period. A slight rumble near the Rindge net called for a face-off with Chipman the Medford man on the play. Chippie swung at the rubber disc just as it dropped to the ice and sent it sailing past Roscoe.

Chippie Again
With hardly a minute remaining to play, Chippie broke from the scrum alone through the dumfounded Rindge defense and with startling stickwork tricked the puck through the strings.

On a rebound of his own drive from mid-ice Chippie skated in fast to the opponents' cage front and whistled the finale of the day through Roscoe.

The Medford defense, alternating Riley, Wilkins, Stewart, and Corrie, kept the Medford goalie, Paul Kenney, fairly free from

Busy Week Is Listed In Sports

WEEK'S EVENTS MONDAY-TUESDAY
Medford High hockey at Belmont, 8 p. m.
Outdoor games, contingent on ice conditions.
TUESDAY
Medford High basketball at Brockton, 8:30 p. m.
WEDNESDAY
Company E vs. First Corps Cadets of Boston in basketball at Armory, 7:30 p. m.
FRIDAY
Medford High track team vs. Lynn English at Medford, 3 p. m.

This week is somewhat of a busy one in both school and independent sports in the city. The visit of the Medford High basketball warriors, renewed after giving Fitchburg the scare of the season Friday night, at Brockton appears to be the outstanding of the week.

The Medford five is keyed up and ready to give the Shoe City aggregation one of its toughest games. Brockton, incidentally, was unbeaten until Saturday when they were beaten by Rogers High of Newport. Brockton has beaten Fitchburg, but the great battle Medford gave Fitchburg on its visit here, puts the teams on fairly even terms. Brockton will have the edge, of course, but can not be considered entirely out by a long shot.

Rustigan, Gurney and Dealy are expected to lead the onslaught. The boys are chock full of fight, confidence and possess a spirit worthy of a champion.

The hockey team, ice and weather permitting, will invade Belmont today or tomorrow to do war with that sextet.

The Company E basketball game with the First Corps Cadets at the Armory Wednesday, also with a second team game billed; and the track team's meeting with Lynn English Friday matinee at Medford completes the week's doings.

Melrose Is Victor Over Medford Elks

Melrose defeated Medford in the weekly Elks' inter-lodge tournament 8-7, held in the Elks Building.

In straight and 3-cushion billiards the visitors took two points. In pool the opponents split with 1 point each. Three points in bridge and two in cribbage gave the Melrose "Hello Bills" their total of 8.

Scoring in the forty-five games, cribbage and a total of 3 in the bowling match, the Medford Lodge emerged with 7, just short one point for a tie.

Following is the bowling box score:

CITY LEAGUE BOWLING TEAMS ROLL WELL IN MATCHES OF THE WEEK

Teachers Gain On South Medford In Standing of Clubs—Tigers Set High Three String Mark of 1503 — Independents Still Lead Parade But Other Teams Are Gradually Closing In—Close Race Expected From Now On—Good Matches This Week

In the weekly matches, at the Hillside Alleys the Independents continued to lead the parade by collecting 4 points from No. Medford. Teachers by taking four from Knights of Columbus gained on So. Medford while the latter split with the Firemen who are struggling to emerge from the cellar.

Tigers cleaned up the Elks for 4 points, Hillside defeated the Civics although the match was very close, O. K.'s took 3 points from the Bruins and the "Beers" dropped into fourth place.

The race is getting closer as they season progresses and there may be many upsets before the final bell.

Although Brady of O. K. with 107 average, did not roll this week he gained on Bill Lindsay who dropped into third place.

Phil Gallivan of the Teachers is now holding down second place with 103. There were 15 men who rolled 300 or better with Jim Eremian leading with his 340 and his 129 which was shared by Arnold Babcock.

The Tigers were hitting on high, as this 1503 shows and the Teachers just taught the Knights a little lesson by rolling 523 for a high team single.

The matches this week between the Bruins and So. Medford on Thursday and Tigers meeting Independents on Friday should make the fans sit up and take notice.

FIRST CORPS CADETS OPPOSE COMPANY E AT ARMORY ON WEDNESDAY

Company E basketball team is scheduled to grip with the strong First Corps Cadets five of Boston in the feature game of the weekly Wednesday evening basketball engagements at the Armory this week.

In the first game of the season for the Company E crowd they administered a licking to the First Corps quintet at Boston some 10 days ago.

Joseph P. Reardon, who is jointly managing and coaching the Armory representatives, will start his strongest team against the visitors.

Last Wednesday evening Company E was handed a thorough beating by the Maguone of Somerville, members of the Recreational Basketball League of that city, but this licking has not broken the spirit of the Army aggregation by any means.

Watertown Victory Club will provide the opposition for the second squad, who bowed to the Medford Phantoms in last week's encounter.

This week's games at the Armory should attract a sizeable crowd to the local rink shed.

Many of the best basketball fives in and around Greater Boston are lined up to appear against Company E during the present season.

Was Rockne Gang Bomb Victim? Medford Locals

That the plane wreck that snuffed out the life of Knute Rockne (left), famous grid coach, and seven others near Kansas City, almost two years ago, was not an accident, but was caused by a time bomb intended to kill the Rev. John Reynolds (right), Notre Dame University priest, is the startling theory of Secret Service investigators who have been patiently probing the crash. The Rev. Reynolds was the witness to the slaying of Jake Lingle, Chicago newspaperman, who positively identified Leo Brothers as the slayer, and the attempt on his life was made by Brothers' gangster colleagues, according to the theory. The priest had reserved a place in the plane, but changed his mind at the last minute.

—The Trojans handed the West Medford Ramblers a genuine licking at the Hobbs Jr. High, 44-26, in somewhat of a one-sided game.

The forwards, Monto and Oechmitt, jointly scored 25 points, just one marker short of the opponents' total.

A BRIGHT FUTURE

We have all the reasons to believe that the New Year will bring happiness to our homes. From all sides, predictions are optimistic. Henry D. Sharpe, president of the New England Council sums it up in the following words:

"New England's relative stability in the last three years in comparison with the record of the country as a whole enables the business of these six states to enter upon the new year with as much courage and confidence as may be justifiable in any part of the United States. An encouraging factor in our national situation happily growing is some progress toward a general agreement as to causes of present conditions and the essentials of business recovery. Economically speaking the Great War is as yet unfinished. We are still greatly suffering because of its occurrence.

"A question that should concern us in 1933 is, what can we in New England do toward establishing a real beginning in business recovery not only in New England but in the nation? As business men and as New Englanders we have tried to do hitherto all that we were called upon to do in hastening the coming of a happier day. There are still great tasks for us to assume which in our opinion are imperative. We must do our part in urging action of Congress in three ways; first, an honest balancing of the budget which means speedy enactment of fruitful taxation, and economy in national expenditure such as few of our legislators have as yet shown any evidence of understanding; second, the summary removal from the situation of the incubus of international debt, a tremendous responsibility for this country, which implies the complete reversal of political thinking of a decade; lastly, an intelligent participation with the nations looking to a lessening of barriers to international trade in general. All of these measures would re-establish confidence, lead to increased trade and better commodity prices.

"Besides this there is a vital contribution which we in New England can make at home. This is, that we in New England in state, city and town proceed energetically to put our governmental houses in order and essentially effect reduction in public expenditure. The business men of each state owe this to their own communities.

"In each business executives can and, I think, should continue to examine as never before the situation of their own businesses in the light of the facts of present conditions. Not only asset and inventory valuations should be scrutinized, and scaled down to levels consistent with the current situation, but every idea, method and policy, not in keeping with current realities should be revised or eliminated.

"It should be the determination of every executive for 1933 to do what he can and all that he can with the facts and circumstance of each day, rather than postpone effort until this or that desired change has occurred."

Joe's Cat Is Sick

Dear Daddy Sunshine:
My pet cat is sick and I don't know how to cure her. My mother put a bandage on its paw, so it won't hurt him so much. He does not walk very much, for he hurts him a little, so he sleeps all day long.

He always sleeps under the stove, for it is warm there, and there is a basket for him.

I take him out every day for a little while in the afternoon and I bring him in again for the rest of the day, and he stays in.

By Joseph Solberg,
34 Vine street,
Medford, Mass.

Your pals, Joseph Cervone and Joseph Solberg.

Very sorry Joe, to hear your cat is not feeling so well. Row-crow she will recover with the due treatment you are giving her. My mistake, Joe. It's not a "her," is it? Thanks a lot for writing again. Always happy to hear from you.

Gives Nation A New Shrine

WASHINGTON—The burial of Calvin Coolidge in his native hills at Plymouth, Vt., will add another to the unique National shrines scattered through the land—the graves of its Presidents.

Like the modest New Englander who served as the 30th Chief Executive of the United States, many of the Presidents returned in death to the soil which knew their tread as boys.

George Washington rests in the quiet of his beloved Mt. Vernon, across the river from Washington, and 50 miles from Wakefield, where he was born.

Two of the more recent Presidents lie near the scene of their great endeavors—Woodrow Wilson in the National Cathedral at Washington, William Howard Taft in Arlington National Cemetery.

Famous Sepulchers
At Springfield, Illinois, where the young Abraham Lincoln practiced law, the martyred President of Civil War days is entombed.

The famous sepulcher of Ulysses S. Grant overlooks the Hudson from Riverside Drive in New York, where he spent his declining years. At Oyster Bay, on Long Island, Theodore Roosevelt rests from the labors of his strenuous life.

By strange coincidence, death came to John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, second and third Presidents of the United States, on the same day—July 4, 1826.

Adams, the only President in history to reach the age of 90, was buried in a crypt under the First Parish church at Quincy, Massachusetts, where his son, John Quincy Adams, sixth of the Nation's Presidents, was to join him 22 years later.

Jefferson's tomb at Monticello, his Virginia estate, bears an epitaph, written by himself.

"Here was buried Thomas Jefferson," it reads, "author of the Declaration of American Independence, of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom, and father of the University of Virginia."

James Madison, who followed Jefferson, was buried on his estate at Montpelier, Virginia. James Monroe was interred originally in New York City but in 1858, the centenary of his birth, the remains were transferred to Richmond, Virginia, where John Tyler also is buried.

Many In Ohio
Andrew Jackson and James K. Polk repose at Nashville, Tenn; Martin Van Buren at Kinderhook, N. Y., where he was born and died; William Henry Harrison at North Bend, O.

That famous old Indian fighter and Mexican War victor, Zachary Taylor, was buried at Springfield, Ky., near Louisville. Millard Fillmore lies at Buffalo, N. Y., where he passed his last few years; Franklin Pierce at Concord, N. H.; James Buchanan at Lancaster, Penn.; Andrew Jackson at Greenville, Tenn.; Rutherford B. Hayes at Fremont, O.; James A. Garfield at Cleveland; Chester A. Arthur at Albany, N. Y.; Grover Cleveland at Princeton, N. J.; Benjamin Harrison at Indianapolis; William McKinley at Canton, O.; and Warren G. Harding at Marion, O.

Now the man who succeeded Harding goes home, to the quiet of rural Vermont.

—The Misses Betty and May Reed, 8 Sheridan avenue, have returned from Exeter, N. H., and New York city, where they danced in theatricals.

Special Coolidge Postage Stamp May Be Issued Soon

WASHINGTON—A likeness of former President Calvin Coolidge may soon be included in the philatelic gallery of the Nation's statehood commemorated on postage stamps.

Requests already have reached the Postoffice Department for a special stamp in honor of Mr. Coolidge, W. Irving Glover, second Assistant Postmaster General, indicated Postmaster General Brown will recommend such an issue be authorized.

"It is very likely that Mr. Coolidge, always a good friend of the philatelic art, will be honored by his country and the Postoffice Department, as Woodrow Wilson and William Howard Taft were honored," he said.

"He also died after leaving the Presidency, but it was considered proper to represent their portraits on stamps."

William Harvey Society Of Tufts Medical To Hold Monthly Meeting

The William Harvey Society of the Tufts Medical School will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, at 8 p. m., in the auditorium of the Beth Israel Hospital, Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association, will speak on "The Art and Practice of Medical Writing."

Dr. Fishbein, a graduate of the Rush Medical College, is also a contributing editor for the "American Mercury," "The Bookman," "Scientific American," and "The North American Newspaper Alliance."

The chairman of the meeting will be Dr. Benjamin Spector, Associate Professor of Anatomy at the Tufts College Medical School.

TEMPORARY SQUADS
At a meeting held at the High school, Thursday, temporary squads were chosen. Seniors, the Misses Helen Sherwood, Mary Graciani, Helen Murphy, Helen Keller, Rita Cirigliano, Alice Kelly, Helen Saul, George Bradshaw, Eleanor Allen, Eleanor Mullane, Alice Fauvette, Eva McMillan and Mary P. Jones. Miss Helen Keller, popular because of the honors she obtained as a member of the Medford Girls' club, was elected captain of the first squad. The squad for the Juniors, the Misses Janice Kenney, Priscilla Linder, Lorraine Driscoll, Edna Fitzpatrick, Mildred Irish, Veronica Dyer, Mary Ayer, Phyllis Stewart, Ruth Ryan and Dorothy Kelley, Miss Phyllis Stewart was chosen captain of the second squad. Miss Mary Ruddy is manager and Miss Helen Greenwood, assistant.

The sophomore appears to have five players that look very promising, and will probably make the first squad. The sophomores have arranged games with the junior high schools. Another meeting will be held this afternoon at 1:30 to determine the regular members of the squad.

MISS DELOREY FETED
A party was held in honor of Miss Catherine Delorey of Tufts street, Medford, at the home of Miss Estelle O'Quinn of 65 Lancaster road, Arlington, Thursday evening. Miss Delorey left for Visitation Academy, Saturday morning after spending the Christmas holidays with her parents. Entertainment was furnished by Miss Helen O'Neil of Medford, who gave selections at the piano. Refreshments were served, and games and dancing enjoyed. Those attending were: Miss Ann O'Quinn, Miss Estelle O'Quinn, Theodore Scott, Miss Frances Balsar, William Bureau, Miss Catherine Delorey, Edward Bureau, Miss Wenonah Craft, Joseph LeBlanc, Miss Helen O'Neil, Gerald Palumbo, Miss Mary Jane Dufresne and Eugene Dufresne.

HAS GYM SESSION
The regular session of St. Joseph's Girls' Gym classes took place at the Roberts Junior High school, Friday evening. Following the two regular classes of girls under fifteen, the seniors spent the evening playing basketball. The classes were under the direction of Miss Mildred E. Babcock of Riverside avenue, and Miss Mary Carew of Lyman avenue.

Among those participating in basketball were: Miss Virginia Murphy, Miss Frances Good, Miss Lillian Huckins, Miss Eleanor Burke, Miss Anne Keith, Miss Marie Hare, Miss Mary Heenan, Miss Dorothy Bird, Miss Betty Birch, Miss Marcella Coughlin, Miss Mary Shea and Miss Helen Colucci.

West Medford
—Miss Barbara Johnson, 133 Brooks street, has returned to Mount Holyoke college, where she is a sophomore.

—Miss Pauline Randolph, 12 Barnard road, spent the holiday here with her parents, and has returned to Radcliffe.

Battle Fire In Vacant House

Several pieces of fire apparatus responded to an alarm from box 71 for a fire in the vacant house at 34 Grove street place, Arlington yesterday noon. The house is owned by Mrs. Henry Scannell, of 10 Glen avenue. There was no damage and firemen were out but fifteen minutes.

A still alarm called firemen to the Boston Elevated property on Tufts street when a brisk fire was sweeping the lot yesterday afternoon. The fire was extinguished in a short while.

Everything Ready For "Chinese Night" At Boston University

Three young Chinese children who have their own special fame as Boston's talented young Chinese dancers, Hilda, Helen, and George Yee, will be an added feature of the "Chinese Evening" which will open at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening, Jacob Sleeper Hall, 688 Boylston street, under the auspices of the Boston University Women Graduates Club. The children will present American and Chinese dances. There will be Chinese music as well as the main feature of the evening which will be a lecture by Dr. Teyhi Hsieh, Managing Director of the Boston Chinese Trade Bureau, on "Current Affairs in China."

Local residents who are interested in Boston University are working for the success of the affair, proceeds from which will be added to the scholarship fund. With the money thus raised at the one annual open meeting, a worthy girl is aided in receiving her education at Boston University.

A fact that is little known about the Yee children is that everything they do here is faithfully reported in their native land. It seems that the most famous of Chinese actresses is watching their progress closely, especially the career of nine year old Hilda, who at an early age showed decided theatrical talent.

For the past four years she has been a pupil of the Lucille Penny Hall Dance Studio. But Hilda's brains are not in her dancing feet only for last year she was the only child in her fifth grade at the Andrew Jackson School in Allston to have an all A scholarship record card. The children have made their home for the last seven years since their mother's death, with their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. J. Perley Staples. When Anna May Wong comes to Boston, she always invites the children to visit her.

Mrs. Walter S. Hartstone of Newton Centre, is co-chairman with Miss Beatrice S. Woodman of Newton, of the evening's program.

lock and Lane on the defence had all they could do to prevent a score. Greco, Sullivan and Collins came on at three minutes. This line also was showing the wear and tear and it failed to clear. Sakolan was hit on the head at the five minutes but after a little rest he continued to play. From this time on till the last few seconds Arlington had the best of the game but attack after attack failed to score and it was only with seconds to play that Al Lane scored for Arlington from scrimmage in front of the net. With two seconds to go the entire Arlington team concentrated on scoring the tying goal and Rooney broke loose with Sakolan unprotected to score.

Saturday's game was a regular interscholastic hockey league battle. Belmont High swept into first place in the league standing as a result of its sizzling 2 to 0 victory over Coach Harold Poole's Melroseans. Ford of Belmont was by far the outstanding player of the day. Medford High defeated Rindge Tech 3 to 0 and Newton High won easily over Stoneham, 4 to 2.

The summary of the Arlington-Cambridge Latin game follows: ARLINGTON HIGH — Collins, Bret, rw; Sullivan, Gardella, 1; Crook, Norberg, lw; Lane, rd; Bullock, id; Sakolan, g.

CAMBRIDGE LATIN —Hindle, Alt, lw; Crawley, Rooney, c; Gurry, Desrosiers, rw; Feeley, Sportachino, id; Boucher, Anderson, rd; Puzyn, g.

Score, Cambridge 4, Arlington 2. Goals made by Desrosiers (Boucher); Alt (Rooney); Collins (Bott); Rooney (Desrosiers); Lane (unassisted); Rooney (unassisted). Referee, Mooney and Kelly. Time, three 12m periods.

Drive To Raise Five Million For Social Groups Starts Soon

With all preparations under way, the central headquarters, organized at 31 Milk street, Boston, under the guidance of Richard Whitcomb, executive manager, the campaign to raise $5,000,000 for 115 associated social agencies in Boston, the Boston Emergency Relief Campaign will launch its drive on January 16.

Ward chairmen with captains and teams of volunteer workers from trade, manufacturing plants and other organizations have been selected with the assistance of Robert F. Herrick, general chairman. Other executives who are associated with Mr. Herrick are as follows: Sewall H. Fessenden, special gifts; Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Women's Division; Louis J. Hunter, Industrial and Finance; Henry Parkman Jr., Wards; William J. Fortune, co-operation and the speaker's bureau; and publicity Major Paul H. Hines.

During 1932 the agencies participating in this campaign received approximately $2,500,000 and from the Unemployment Campaign about $550,000. This makes a total of $3,050,000. To keep operating in 1932 they were forced to go into unrestricted endowment funds for about $900,000 more or a total that should have been met by popular subscription of $4,200,000. Having in mind the anticipated reduction in income from operating and taking into consideration the increased demands, due to unemployment $750,000 is not more than enough to meet these needs. This makes the campaign total $5,000,000.

Associated with the campaign are the Family Welfare Society, The Associated Jewish Philanthropies, The Catholic Charitable Bureau, St. Vincent de Paul Society, The Salvation Army, The Boston Dispensary, The Children's Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital and 107 others.

OBSERVANCE IN MEDFORD OF PRESIDENT GEORGE WASHINGTON'S DEATH

by Dr. Edward W. Barrett

It may be of local interest at this particular time, when our country is grieving at the passing of our great and illustrious ex-president, Calvin Coolidge, to recall the arrangements made by the people of our community to express their sorrow at the death of our first president, Gen. George Washington.

When the mournful news of Washington's death, which occurred on December fourteenth, 1799, reached Medford on January second, 1800, the inhabitants of the town came together and appointed a committee of eleven to make arrangements for the proper observance of the sad event, an event that touched each heart as a family bereavement.

The order of services which the committee prepared was printed and circulated through the town.

On Jan. 13, 1800, at one o'clock, the stores were closed, the flags were at half-mast, and the church bell was tolled till the procession, which was composed of the male inhabitants and the school children of the town and the military with muffled drums, arrived at the meeting house, and again it was tolled at the conclusion of the services, till sunset.

All the men wore black crepe on their left arms above their elbows as a sign of mourning. Black ribbons were worn by the females who took seats in the church in advance of the procession. The meeting house was robed in black and all mourning signs continued for thirty days.

The services opened with music suited to the occasion. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Osgood and the eulogy was given by Dr. John Brooks, a companion in arms with Gen. Washington and one of his favorite friends, who stood by him in the darkest period of the Revolutionary war.

The eulogy narrated the prominent facts in Washington's life and the important features of his character.

At the close of the impressive commemorative exercises, a copy of Washington's Farewell Address was given to all who were present.

Would-Be Suicide Faces Court Charges Many Medford Cases

A man claiming to be Frank Crowley, alias Gordon Lambert, of Boston, was arrested in Melrose charged with attempting larceny of $35 by a bad check from F. E. Coyle, a Melrose merchant, and the Melrose police say that he attempted suicide in a cell by swallowing ground glass. He was taken to the Melrose hospital and after treatment was returned to his cell and arraigned in court Saturday. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was held in $500 for trial on next Saturday.

The Malden police lodged a charge of larceny of $3.55 from the Norfolk Paint Co. against the defendant, to which he pleaded not guilty.

The Melrose police say that the defendant found a piece of broken bottle in his cell, ground it with his heel and then attempted to swallow it. He was taken to the Melrose hospital for an x-ray and it was found that while he had swallowed some of the glass, there was not enough in his stomach to do any serious harm so he was returned to his cell.

The police say that he tried to purchase sawdust at the Coyle hardware store and wanted it sent to an address on Adams st., Melrose. The bill came to $16 and he tendered a check for $35 which Mr. Coyle refused to honor. The defendant then left, according to the police. Coyle notified the officers and it is claimed that Lieut. W. T. Fahy caught the defendant in another hardware store where he was ordering paint.

Amil DiGangi, Medford, non-support, continued to Dec. 5 with a decree of $8 per week.

Vincent Frallicardi and Dominic Trabuco, Everett, assault on Frank Gulano, Everett, dismissed for want of prosecution.

Vincent M. Wilson, Melrose Highlands, drunk, fined $15; evading taxi fare, fined $20 and appealed on both cases.

Medford Accident
James A. Fitzgerald, Malden, going away after an accident in which a person was injured, without giving his identity, was discharged, following a long trial. This was the sequel to an accident on Middlesex avenue, Medford.

John H. Farrar, Malden, drunk, one month suspended with probation for a year, previously suspended term of 15 days was made operative. Jere F. O'Brien, Malden, drunk, one month suspended with probation for a year, and a previously suspended term of one month was made operative. The police say he broke two windows in an Eastern avenue house just before his arrest. John F. Callahan, Malden, drunk, on file and returned to the state farm by revocation of a previously suspended term. Louis J. Walsh, Malden, drunk, on file and returned to the state farm under conditions similar to Callahan's.

Howard N. Higgins, Medford, drunk, 15 days suspended and a previously suspended term of 15 days was revoked. John S. Carey, Malden, drunk, on file and returned to the state farm by revocation of a suspended term. Philip S. Haswell, Malden, drunk, one month suspended and a previously suspended term of one month was made operative. Frank J. Robishaw, Malden, drunk, 15 days suspended.

Daniel F. McDonough, Everett, drunk, and allowing a person with no right to operate an auto, wanted to plead nolo and the case went over to next Saturday for a hearing. Harold F. Hatlaas, Everett, operating the McDonough car after revocation of license, pleaded not guilty and will be tried on the 14th.

Alvin L. Garland, Melrose, larceny of two books from a circulating library in Wakefield, fined $10 and given time to pay.

Judge Flynn also heard several criminal cases which were continued for final disposition, including Peter DeMarco charged with assaulting Bernard Glanquill, a tenant, and a verdict of guilty was rendered and the case continued to next Saturday when the defendant will furnish bond on an appeal.

Sports Show At Mechanics February 4-11

Every outdoors man who has ever clicked a camera, wet a fly, cast a plug or pulled a trigger will be interested in an innovation just announced by Chester I. Campbell, director of the New England Sportsmen's Show, which is to be held at Mechanics Building, Boston, February 4 to 11. For the first time in the long series of these big exhibitions, sportsmen will compete in showing their mounted trophies and their collections of photographs. Valuable prizes will be awarded for the best specimens and the best photos.

This plan to make New England's great outdoor show of keen personal interest to the individual hunter and fisherman by exhibiting him as a participant, has aroused enthusiasm among all to whom it has been disclosed. Indications point to intense rivalry to capture the prizes in both the trophies and the photograph contests.

The division devoted to the mounted specimens of fish and game is open to both individuals and sportsmen's clubs, with no limit placed upon the number of specimens individuals may show, but a limit of 15 for the clubs. No entry fee is required. All entries must be received at Mechanics Building not later than noon on Monday, February 6. The Show will be open on Sunday the 5th, and many sportsmen will doubtless plan to make their entries on that day. The show hours on other days will be from 10 a. m. to 10.30 p. m.

While the selection of subjects is left to the sportsmen themselves, the following are suggested: Trout—brown, brook, rainbow and lake; salmon—Atlantic and landlocked; bass—large-mouthed and small-mouthed; black bear, white-tailed deer, moose, bob cats, lynx and game birds. Individuals will compete with individuals and clubs with clubs. This will be the largest exhibit of mounted fish and game specimens ever to New England and Eastern Canada ever gathered together in New England. Entry blanks can be obtained by applying to Chester I. Campbell, 329 Park Square Building, Boston.

Entries in the photograph contest are not limited to sportsmen, but may be made by any lover of the outdoors. Many in these days hunt with camera only. The subjects may be of hunting, fishing and general scenic views, also camping, hiking, etc. First, second and third prizes, consisting of cameras, will be given in each of the three classes—hunting, fishing and other outdoor subjects. Entries in this division also close at noon on February 6. The contest is expected to bring out the most striking action pictures and those devoted to unusual subjects, as well as photos of high artistic merit.

Plans for this year's Sportsmen's Show are taking stock of the depression, it is said. Practically all the big exhibitors of former years will again be in evidence and many new ones have reserved space. Stress is being laid on the spectacular and entertainment features which give the show such wide appeal. More than ever, it is claimed, the show will be a cross-section not only of the hunting and fishing crafts, but of all outdoors in New England, the nation's premier vacation land.

Families Grow Much Smaller

Families have grown smaller since 1890, the statistical department of the National Industrial Conference Board declares in a current bulletin.

"In the census of 1890," the bulletin says, "the family unit consisted of 4.93 persons. The census of 1930 gives the number of 4.10 persons. Apartment dwellers apparently have influenced American mode of life very little. Figures show that 76.4 per cent of all American families still live in one-family houses."

ROOF REPAIRS AT HIGH SCHOOL MAY NOT BE PAID

City Solicitor Finds No body Authorized 'Work for Which Bill is Ren- dered'

A. Belanger & Son, who made extensive repairs on the roof of the Medford High school, and who submitted a bill for the same, probably will receive no money for their work.

City Solicitor Lewis H. Peters has rendered an opinion to the city government that the city is not liable for the bill.

When the bill was submitted to the school committee some months ago, the committee forwarded it to the city government, as no authorization had been made by the committee for the repairs.

According to the city solicitor, the Belanger company were doing some work for the city. Someone acting without any authority, called attention of the company to the fact that the roof of the High school needed some repairs and the Belanger company went ahead and made the repairs.

The city solicitor holds that as the company had already done business with the city it was familiar with the procedure of the city, that such a job could not have been awarded without advertising for bids and that the city was in no way liable for the bill.

MAYOR CALLS MEETING OF ALDERMEN TONIGHT

Barry Garage Petition Is Withdrawn

President William C. Barry of the William C. Barry Co., which company petitioned for the right to erect a large garage to house its trucks off the Mystic Valley parkway near Auburn street, on land owned by the Commonwealth, and against which was considerable opposition voiced by residents of that section, has withdrawn the petition for the change in zoning.

Mr. Barry wrote to the aldermen, asking that he be given permission to withdraw the petition. Principal opposition to the garage arose from the fact that the trucks going to and from the location would have to pass through narrow residential streets.
